

CHILDREN'S BILINGUAL BOOK FESTIVAL

27 APRIL 2019

PROGRAM

ABOUT THE FESTIVAL

WELCOME/BIENVENIDOS/YÁ'ÁT'ÉÉH

The National Hispanic Cultural Center (NHCC) is delighted to host its first annual NHCC Children's Bilingual Book Festival.

A celebration of Children's Day/Book Day, National Poetry Month, Arbor Day, and Semana Cervantina/Poesía eres tú, this festival highlights children's books written in Spanish, English and Native languages.

The focus on Spanish-English and Native Languages-English books and authors makes this festival particularly meaningful and vibrant, reflecting the identities of many children in New Mexico and the Southwest. We want to encourage children to see themselves in contemporary children's literature as well as introduce a bilingual body of work to a wider audience.

The festival also launches a summer program that pairs children who need help with reading with tutors who will provide one-on-one and group reading tutoring over the summer.

We hope you have a wonderful day listening to authors, reading and buying books, making book-related art, and more. Viva la lectura! Viva los libros!

La National Hispanic Cultural Center (NHCC) está encantado de acoger la primera conferencia anual NHCC Children's Festival del Libro Bilingüe.

Celebrando el Día de los Niños, Día del Libro y coincidiendo con el Mes Nacional de Poesía, Día del Arbol, y la Semana Cervantina, este festival gratis celebrará libros de niños escritos en Inglés, español, y lenguas nativas.

El festival enfatiza libros para lectores desde el jardín de infantes hasta el sexto grado, sin embargo habrá actividades para niños de todas las edades, incluyendo familias, profesores y padres.

Este festival también da la apertura a un programa de lectura para el verano para los niños que estén teniendo problemas con lectura.

For more information, visit her web page: www.kathleencontreras.com

WORKSHOP FOR PARENTS (9:45-10:30): "Screen Time is Fun...So Why Read?" More and more evidence is showing that screen time can be damaging to the brain. Reading, however, not only promotes cognitive development but provides a positive opportunity for bonding between parents and children. Come learn some of these benefits and gather some tips on how to make reading a lot of fun at home! AMY ELLIS currently teaches first grade in a dual language program at Valle Vista Elementary School in Albuquerque's South Valley. She loves to read books in Spanish and English, and one of her favorite places to hang out is the Public Library.

DÍA DEL LOS NIÑOS/LIBROS PROCLAMATION and STUDENT STORYTELLERS (10:30-11): DEJA GEORGE is from Shiprock and is a student at Atsá Biyáázh Community School. She enjoys going to Navajo Sheep Camp. DIEGO MATHIEU goes to McCormick Elementary School in Farmington. He is from the Navajo Biter Water Clan and wants to work for NASA. GABRIELA GONZALEZ goes to Mesa View Middle School in Farmington. ABOUT THE AUTHORS & SESSIONS

continued

PAUL AND CARLOS MEYER (2-2:45): Under the Cottonwood Tree: El Susto de la curandera is a graphic novel written by Paul Meyer & Carlos Meyer and illustrated by Margaret Hardy. In decades past, amongst the cottonwood trees and near the Rio Grande, lies the sleepy little village known as Algodones, New Mexico, where simple villagers live their simple lives. Step onto the trail following la curandera and join Carlos, Amadeo and best friend Monree as they experience an adventure of a lifetime while unraveling the many secrets of the bosque.

ANNA NOGAR and ENRIQUE LAMADRID (3-3:45) are co-authors of Sisters in Blue/Hermanas de azul (UNM Press, 2017), based on 17th-century nun Sor María de Jesús de Ágreda. Dr. NOGAR is Associate Professor of Hispanic Southwest Studies in the Department of Spanish and Portuguese at the University of New Mexico. She is the author or editor of several books, including Quill and Cross in the Borderlands: Sor María de Ágreda, 1628- the Present (U. of Notre Dame Press, 2018), A History of Mexican Literature (Cambridge U. Press, 2016) and the forthcoming El feliz ingenio neomexicano: The Life and Writing of Felipe M. Chacón. Enrique R. LAMADRID is a Professor in the Department of Spanish and Portuguese at UNM. He teaches folklore, literature, and cultural history. His children's books include Amadito y los Niños Héroes / Amadito and the Hero Children (UNM Press, 2011) and, with Juan Estevan Arellano, Juan the Bear and the Water of Life: La acequia de Juan del Oso. (UNM Press, 2008).

POESÍA ERES TÚ (4-4:30) is an annual competition organized by the Institute Cervantes and the UNM Latin American Iberian Institute in which elementary students recite memorized, dramatized poems in Spanish. The students come from public, private, and charter schools. This presentation features winners of the 2019 competition held on April 26. The event is organized in collaboration with the Spanish Resource Center of Albuquerque, Instituto Cervantes of Albuquerque, and the National Hispanic Cultural Center.

ZAHRA MARWAN created the art for our beautiful festival image, t-shirts and posters. Zahra grew up in two deserts which vary drastically and have many similarities in culture. One close to the sea, the other close to the mountains. She studied the visual arts in France, and continues various pursuits to further educate herself. She currently lives in the Barelmas neighborhood of Albuquerque, New Mexico, and works in her studio at the Harwood Art Center, where she incorporates Kuwaiti tendencies into her daily life.

BOOK FAIR/EMPORIUM

AUTHOR SIGNING TABLE: Before and/or after each author's reading, purchase his/her/their books at the book fair. Authors will sign books for half an hour after each reading. NOTE: author signings will take place in the book fair building, not the reading room.

Purchase your FESTIVAL T-SHIRTS, POSTERS and SWAG at the NHCC History and Literary Arts table. It's first-come, first-served till we run out of this limited-edition, inaugural merchandise. Buy a poster early in the day and have each author sign it to take home a special souvenir from the festival.

The mission of ADOBE ACRES ELEMENTARY SCHOOL, in collaboration with the community, is to provide a safe and challenging environment that will encourage lifelong learning and empower students to become independent, responsible citizens. Stop by our table to see some of the dual language books our students have created while working with authors including Jimmy Santiago Baca, Jen Cervantes, Alex Beard, Cynthia Grady and George Acona.

A LITTLE SCIENCE, LLC creates science content—books, media, presentations, & kits—for children of all ages. Our goal is to engage, educate, and inspire young children to explore the scientific world around them. We understand that science is a language that is best introduced at a young age. Through our books and outreach, we hope to launch the next generation of scientists on their journey of discovery!

ANA BACA discovered her love for writing at nine years old when she received a cherry red journal with lock and key from her sister for Valentine's Day. Her children's books include Benito's Bizcochitos / Los bizcochitos de Benito; Benito's Sopaipillas / Las sopaipillas de Benito; Chiles for Benito/Chiles para Benito and Tía's Tamales. Drop by Ana's table to buy her books.

ARTFUL LIFE is happy to provide funding for and partner with the NHCC Children's Bilingual Book Festival. We are a New Mexico-based arts and community engagement organization dedicated to uplifting and celebrating neighborhoods through art. Drop by our table for free books and snacks. www.artful-life.org

BOOKWORKS is one of Albuquerque's last remaining local, independent bookstores. We are dedicated to supporting our community and connecting books and readers. We will be featuring books by festival keynote author, Pat Mora as well as Kathleen Contreras, Anna Nogar and Enrique Lamadrid, among other children's book authors.

DUENDE DISTRICT is a Latinx-owned and collaborative pop-up bookstore by and for people of color, with locations in Washington, D.C., and Albuquerque, N.M. We specialize in carrying the best new adult and children's titles by authors/illustrators of color, in English and Spanish. www.duendedistrict.com

INSTITUTO CERVANTES es la institución pública creada por España en 1991 para la promoción y la enseñanza de la lengua española y de las lenguas cooficiales y para la difusión de la cultura española e hispanoamericana. Está presente en 90 ciudades de 43 países en los cinco continentes. El Instituto Cervantes está situado en el Centro Nacional de Cultura Hispana, dentro del edificio Pete Domenici Education Center.

NATIVE REALITIES publishes and produces comics, games, toys and interactive experiences. We are an Indigenous Imagination company dedicated to producing high-quality media in order to change the perceptions and representations of native and Indigenous people through popular culture. Our creations help to create a new reality, a Native reality.

In celebration of Children's Day, Book Day—El día de los niños/libros (April 30) the NHCC is launching a SUMMER READING PROGRAM for 3rd and 4th graders who need help with reading. Pre-registered summer readers and their parents/guardians will meet their tutors at the summer reading book fair table at 10:15 am. They will also receive free festival swag and books. Over the summer, readers and tutors will meet in the NHCC library twice a week for reading and comprehension practice and students will receive free books as the program unfolds.

THE NM STATE FORESTRY URBAN AND COMMUNITY FORESTRY PROGRAM works to improve the health of NM citizens and the environment by supporting local sustainable community tree programs. Come to our table for free tree seedlings and children's activities. Also join us at 9:45 am in the courtyard for the Arbor Day Proclamation.

NORTH FOURTH PUBLICATIONS will feature sales of Under the Cottonwood Tree by Paul and Carlos Meyer. Drawing on their upbringing in Alameda and hailing from a family of nine children both Paul and Carlos Meyer hope to bring a sense of family and tradition to their writing. With Under the Cottonwood Tree the authors hope to shine a light on the culture and people of New Mexico.

The PUBLIC LIBRARY ABQ-BERNCO connects diverse groups of people with resources and services to increase literacy, knowledge, opportunity, as well as provide entertainment and leisure for Albuquerque and Bernalillo County residents. SARAH DEWEY is a printmaker, costume designer, and educator who grew up in the South Valley. AL N'AIR LARA is an artist, educator and farmer from Berino, New Mexico.

This inaugural festival has been funded by the City of Albuquerque, the BNSF Railway Foundation, Artful Life, and French's Funerals and Cremations. We thank them for their generous support. Our thanks, also, to the NHCC Foundation which supports programming for History and Literary Arts and other NHCC programs.

We are also grateful for our partners for their wise counsel and collaboration as we co-created and planned the event: ABQ Reads, Artful Life, Bookworks, Children's Day/Book Day, Native Realities, New Mexico State Forestry, Reforma de Nuevo Mexico, the UNM Latin American and Iberian Institute, and UNM Press.

Warm thanks to US Young Peoples' Poet Laureate, Margarita Engle, for sparking the idea for the festival.

Mark your calendars for next year's festival: April 25, 2020!
